Branch Mint for Oregon

In the history of gold and silver mining no section of any country has ever made more rapid strides in development of metallic resources than Oregon during the past few months The Kootenai, with its vast river beds and bars, its fields and mountains of uncounted treasure, its golden pebbles rewarding patient labor, its fertile vales offering homes for thousands of busy delvers, and produce for a quick and full supply of all the miners' food the Owyhee, with its metal ribbed hills, only waiting the introduction of water and machinery to rend the quartz and separate the ores, and place its population among the wealthiest and most thriving of the continent, the John Day region with its multifarious and auriferous hills, the Boise Basin, with its wealth, and energy, and enterprise, and last, though by no means least, the wonderful discoveries of Santiam, where gold and silver, and copper, and lead in fabulous quantities and virgin purity have already been taken out from the imperfectly prospected leads, these, with innumerable other and perhaps not minor localities, are unanimous in their demands for some responsible and permanent receptacle for their precious acquisitions, from which a return can be made in authorized and current coin

The question as to the proper location for a Branch Mint admits of but one answer Setting aside all sectional prejudices and petty rivalries, the entire mining population of the State and adjacent territories can be accommodated only here. As we have already shown that Portland is the commercial emporium of the State—the great store-house of imports and exports—many of the considerations urged in a previous article touching her admirable location as a port of entry, also bear with equal force upon the location of the Branch Mint It is apparent that any other disposition by Congress of the Mint would work a hardship upon one of the most important sections of the State, and one that at present promises a greater comparative yield of the precious metals than any other—Santiam and beyond The outlet of these mines is at Portland, by the shortest and easiest traveled route, and the Mint, located above, would render it necessary for all the travel to double its track, and after reaching the city, by another route return to the interior Not many weeks can elapse ere the road between Portland and Santiam must have become the favorite, and freight will leave this point daily for those mines In addition to the trade of the Santiam, the people of Lane county are moving energetically in the matter of a road from Eugene across the Cascade range, and it will be completed within the next three or four months Such road will divert much of the trade and travel from the gold mines of Eastern Oregon and Idaho through the Willamette Valley and direct to Portland But even were there no such facilities for interior travel and transportation, every merchant from the interior either purchases his stock of goods in Portland for shipment above, or, if he purchases abroad, he receives and reships here No miner, whether bound in or out of the country by the ocean routes, fails to come here It cannot be avoided Here, then, if the necessity for the convenience of a Mint exists anywhere in the country, it exists most strongly Here the gold dust changes hands, and here the national standard of its value should be observed If political trickery and trading are not permitted to wield too great an influence in the establishment of our public and desirable institutions, a knowledge of the country and its wants will give the Mint to Portland beyond any peradventure

EASTERN NEWS.

CHICAGO July 1 —[Special from Sherman's army correspondence of the Chicago Tribune]

Until the last few days there has been a continual rain which has rendered the Chattahoochie and all the streams in the vicinity impassable for artillery and wagons, and has greatly impeded the movements of the army Our lines of communication have been almost entirely broken up, and we have been compelled to depend entirely upon the Chattanooga railroad for supplies Our army is now on the very south bank of the Chattahoochie, with the exception of the 23d corps, which is still on the north bank of the river, and the 4th corps, which is on the south bank, but still in front of Marietta Our left is resting on the river at the mouth of Nickajack creek, and our right on the Sandtown road, with the 23d corps on the extreme right and the 4th corps on the left of the 23d The 14th corps is in the centre, and the 20th corps in reserve, guarding the railroad from Kenesaw to the Chattahoochie

The enemy are fortifying on the south bank of the river, and have a strong line of works on the high hills which command the river and the approaches to the bridges and fords Their artillery is very heavy, and they have a large number of guns in position Their sharpshooters are very numerous, and are armed with the best rifles in the rebel army, and are under the command of the most skilful officers in the rebel army Their sharpshooters are posted in rifle pits, and in houses, and behind trees, and are relieved every few hours, so that they are always fresh and vigilant Their artillery is also very accurate, and their sharpshooters annoy us very much

Our lines are very strong, and we have been busily engaged in fortifying them since we have been in front of the enemy's position Our skirmishers are constantly engaged with the enemy's sharpshooters, and the artillery is frequently engaged, but no general engagement has occurred since the 22d ult

The enemy's position is a very strong one, and we have been unable to find any weak point in his line, and have therefore been unable to attack him in force Our line is so extended that we have been unable to flank the enemy, and he has been unable to flank us Our line is now extended around the north side of Marietta, and our left is resting on the river at the mouth of Nickajack creek, and our right on the Sandtown road, with the 23d corps on the extreme right and the 4th corps on the left of the 23d The 14th corps is in the centre, and the 20th corps in reserve, guarding the railroad from Kenesaw to the Chattahoochie

A letter dated in front of Kenesaw Mountain the 23d says the corps on the right and left advanced again yesterday, and the centre threatened the position around and upon the base of Kenesaw Mountain in the teeth of a very heavy artillery fire from the numerous rebel batteries Our centre is very close to the heavy rebel works on the mountain, and any further progress there must be achieved by assault, for though the fire of our batteries is very destructive it cannot alone compel them to evacuate There are movements of the wings especially of the corps of Hooker and Schofield on the right, which are now three miles from Marietta, on their way east rapidly, which import a speedy accomplishment of Sherman's design—pushing Johnston south of the Chattahoochie—without any great loss of life As our various corps converge towards the Kenesaw road on the right or left it must be yielded In order to get all the troops into position ground has been yielded to the right exclusively Our extreme right is now south of the latitude of Marietta

The New York Herald's special says Chase says his resignation is the consummation of a purpose long entertained but delayed only by accident; that he had prepared his resignation at the time Frank Blair made a violent assault upon the Treasury Department and caused the appointment of an Investigating Committee that he could not honorably retire while the investigation was pending; but since the Committee reported exonerating him from all shadow of censure he availed himself of the first moment when it could be done with honor to peremptorily resign

He added, in addition that on Wednesday evening the Secretary submitted to the Financial Committee of the Senate and to the Ways and Means Committee of the House, a bill levying additional taxes upon certain articles of luxury, such as whiskey and tobacco and accompanied it by a statement that it was absolutely necessary to provide for eighty five millions more revenue from this source to enable the government to go on with safety and that the coldness with which the proposition was read by both Committees strengthened his determination to abandon the office

CAIRO July 2 —The Memphis papers yesterday, say that the column under Gen Carr had a fight on the 27th near St Charles with Shelby's forces resulting in the defeat of the rebels with a loss of five hundred, including two hundred prisoners Our loss in killed and wounded will not exceed two hundred

WASHINGTON, July 3—9 P M —The following telegram, dated to day at Marietta Ga was received this evening from General Sherman giving the result of the flanking operations in progress Some days back a movement on our right caused the enemy to evacuate We occupied Kenesaw at daylight, and Marietta at 5 30 A M Thomas is moving down on the main road towards Chattahoochie and McPherson towards the mouth of Nickajack, on the Sandtown road Our cavalry are on the extreme flank Whether the enemy will halt this side of Chattahoochie or not will soon be known Marietta was almost entirely abandoned by the inhabitants More than that the railroad iron has been removed between the town and the front of Kenesaw

PACIFIC RAILROAD —The Pacific Railroad Bill, which passed the House on the 24th of June, has since passed the Senate. The bill, as finally passed, extends the time for the completion of the first fifty miles of the California end of the road to one year from December next—an ample time when it is remembered that thirty one miles has been already finished and is in operation The Company is also authorized to execute a first mortgage upon the road, equal in amount to that held by the Government As these mortgage bonds are to be allowed to take precedence of those to the United States they will become negotiable upon liberal terms, thus enabling the Company to command what further means they may require

PASSPORT —We had the favor of a visit from C R Street editor of the Marysville Express who spent the 4th in this city He was highly entertained by the K G C during his brief sojourn He left for Portland yesterday

The above is clipped from the Yreka Journal of the 6th, and we publish it so that any members of the secret order of our Nation's foes who have not been duly notified may be ready to receive him properly at 12 o'clock on the night of—his arrival The next will be stirred to an interesting pitch of chivalric enthusiasm

SOUTH BOISE —Dr R P Farnham, who has just left for New York city, with some thing in the shape of about 1,000 lbs of specimens from the quartz ledges of South Boise, gave us a few statistics of the operations at present going on in that vicinity which may not be uninteresting at the present time, as it is known that there is a brilliant prospect ahead, in the future development of the upper country, which every business man in our city is either directly or indirectly concerned in The stages from Walla Walla to Salt Lake City will pass within a short distance of South Boise a road is now nearly complete from Little Camas Station on that route to Bennett's creek the main mining district in the county of Alturas and upon which creek there are three town sites Esmeralda Clifton and Happy Camp, growing into importance. Out of about 200 lodges discovered the Doctor furnishes us with a list of some twenty any one of which he is confident will prove more lasting and profitable than any yet ever discovered or worked, even in Washoe The celebrated Prospector, Comstock is there and is crushing rock at the rate of 1 800 lbs a day with rude arastras, run by a 20 foot overshot wheel The following are the ledges employed in this character of work Ophir six arastras 0 foot over hot wheel Ada Elmore one arastra 16 foot breast wheel, Confederate State 20 foot wheel one arastra, Alturas 24 foot wheel one arastra And pendence 20 foot wheel, one arastra and four others are nearly ready for operation, designed for custom work Col B H Raymond will soon reach there with his mill and others are following A new lead had been discovered near the Ophir which caused great excitement, a few days previous to the Doctor's departure which had been called King's Bee The "Idaho Mining Company have ordered a 15 horse power engine and boiler a 10 stamp quartz mill, and a saw mill, to be manufactured in San Francisco immediate transportation the present season the principal proprietors this company are eastern men, and the principal office is in New York city

TRANSLOP BY THE STEAMSHIP —The steamship John L Stephens, which sailed for Victoria and San Francisco yesterday morning, carried light freight light passenger, and light treasure lists from Portland The freight consisted of 50 tons flour and a few cases of cider, for Victoria, passengers 50, and treasure shipped as follows

Wells Fargo & Co	—	$130,000 00
Allen & Lowe	—	14 000 00
Ladd & Tilton	—	10 000 00
O S & Co	—	5 000 00
Total	—	$159,000 00

NEW MUSIC —Persons looking down Front street, from the vicinity of F street, are apt to accord praise to the loyalty of some one unknown, for the pains taken in the erection of a splendid flag staff, but when it is better understood they really perceive it not to be such, and upon visiting the locality find what we have before stated was a creditable work of the telegraph company, for suspending the wire across the river But a new charm has been added to the subject, and it is stated upon reliable authority that there is actually music in it It not surprising to us however to hear that a number of iron wires and guys, stretched for over a hundred feet in mid air will produce harmonious sounds, by the action of the wind, when sweet music is produced from brass wires played upon with little sticks, as in the case of the dulcimer

WARM DAYS —Monday, and a portion of yesterday were the warmest of the season The sun beat down intolerably hot, but a cool breeze has been most constantly fanning us which rendered relief from the scorching rays The Leopard however, have nearly drooped by the way and at times could only be restimulated by long coaling drinks The much abused cart horse has sweat profusely, and the hard working man been obliged to go slow for fear of sun strokes and all would gladly welcome a shower of rain unless it be the man who "makes hay while the sun shines," or is otherwise employed in the harvest field At the present rate our crops must ripen rapidly and be securely garnered

CARRYING CONCEALED WEAPONS —The practice of carrying concealed weapons is at all times hazardous in a community like ours even on the persons of adults but there can be no limit to the imudemonsness and impropriety of small boys carrying bowie knives and pistols An altercation occurred on the beach below the Gas Works a few evening's since, in which one boy threatened to "take the heart's blood of another but was prevented by an older one who to use his own expression, would have put a bullet through him in case the knife had not been surrendered Comment upon such action, is unnecessary

THE NEW CITY CHARTER —We are every day importuned by parties who are anxious to know something in relation to the new City Charter Its preparation has been left to the City Attorney, and the Judiciary Committee of the Council, who are authorized to report on the first Thursday in August at which time we hope to be able to see the instrument in writing We understand its provisions are intended to be liberal upon all topics and with its adoption before the legislature we expect to witness a great reaction in the management of city affairs Until such time we must patiently wait.

TOO MUCH WIND —The bark Helen W Almy finished discharging, that portion of her cargo designed for Portland yesterday, and started for Vancouver in tow of Capt Turnbull's steamer, but a heavy head wind so prevented their progress that she was obliged to anchor, mid stream, and wait for calmer weather The steamer went to Vancouver as usual, and will probably take the bark on her trip to-day The Almy has about 225 tons for Vancouver after discharging which she will proceed to Cape Disappointment with her heavy guns, and finally load at Westport, with lumber for San Francisco

HEAVY WINDS.—About three o clock yesterday afternoon a strong breeze commenced blowing from the north, and west which continued for the balance of the day, and a portion of the night, to the infinite satisfaction of those who were complaing about the heat, and the disgust of all who dislike dusty streets and roads Nature's laws must be obeyed, they are best, and we must not complain

A BELL FOR ALBANY —We noticed a very fine bell on the steamship wharf last evening, for shipment to Albany, in care of A Schlussel & Co It arrived from California on the steamer John L Stephens, Monday morning We are not advised as to which particular belfry it is to swing in, there being several in Albany

PRESENTATION SWORDS — Goldsmith Bros. received a handsome lot of military equalettes, shoulder straps and other military goods, with a half dozen superb swords, suitable for presentations, etc, by the last steamer The imprint is direct from New York, and is of the best quality

U S DISTRICT COURT —In the U S District Court yesterday decision was rendered in the case of the Cowlitz Landing Steamboat Company vs the steamer *

War Brewing in Europe.—A most intelligent and capable Englishman of the Liberal school, who has recently twice traversed Europe from London to Stamboul in a private letter to the editor of the Irituune thus epitomizes the situation

I have made a most extensive investigation of the state of the public feeling in Italy France and Switzerland and will now submit the result of my observations resume, on which you will decide

The Turks Arabs and all Mohammedan countries hate the Emperor of the French with no doubt a serious war may be expected in Algeria and along the whole of Northern Africa

The Greeks hate the Emperor of the French first because he supports the Pope who the Greeks think the greatest enemy of their religion and because the Emperor has helped them and they have taken contract to the British alliance

The Italians hate the Emperor of the French with such hatred as only Italians can feel First, because they say he gave an oath to Italian soldiers to shoot Garibaldi that brigand dressed as soldier paid with French gold did the act of assassination [I am myself fully persuaded that they are right in that] Second, because he keeps their Capital (Rome) away from them and has done all he could to keep up constant brigandage to dismember and enslave them Third because in breaking his solemn promise he betrayed them after the victories of Montebello, Magenta and Solferino, Fourth because the Italians are republicans and the Emperor is the perjured destroyer of European republicanism [The man is dangerous best to be now the destroyer also of American republicanism]

The Swiss hate Napoleon because they are republicans and good ones and know him to be the treacherous enemy of liberty But what is more important than all there is and it is by the blessing of the Great Being perfectly true the French people and the French army are heartily sick of Napoleon From long practice I speak French nearly the same as English and had excellent opportunities for acquiring information both going through France returning and again on my late visit I am astounded at the state of things I never could have believed it Oh my saying a word about the Emperor and Mexico peasants farmers bourgeois, private soldiers and officers go off into torrents of invective against the Emperor such as I could hardly have imagined and that in the presence of an Englishman Such days as those of Louis XVI and Marie Antoinette may not be so distant as people suppose The French are a fierce fiery and haughty race and I can only look on the Emperor as sitting on the peak of a volcano in imminent danger of eruption

You will naturally want to know what the French themselves put forward as their principal grievances

1 For each of the three last years the conscription has been 100 000 a year the previous maximum having been only 40 000

2 One hundred thousand having been sent to Mexico (and the French have no troops) of which only 55 000 at most remain alive

3 That the regiments sent to Mexico was selected as being the most Republican the most Legitimist, or the most Orleanist and the Bonapartist regiments kept at home

4 That Republican Legitimist and Orleanist officers were unfairly exchanged into the doomed regiments

5 That the luxury vice and extravagance of the Court are beyond measure, and the finances of the country are seriously suffering therefrom

6 That the turbulent policy of the Emperor in reconstituting the Holy Alliance, viz Prussia Austria and Russia against France [There is no doubt this is quite true] The French don like to be brought without cause into a war with three nations at a time and they think—I believe with justice—if with three, then with four—fearful odds! Also Italy, that makes five Then the whole Mahommedan population of Africa, with Turkey six—a very poor lookout

Sweet Vengeance.—The howitzer that from the Gould & Curry dump so recently gave utterance to loud tongued joy at the nomination of Honest Old Abe, once followed in Fremont's train, but was by him abandoned in our mountains.—Enterprise, June 12th

That's nothing for Fremont He abandoned a lady, whom he seduced, and left her a pensioner upon the charities of the ladies of a church in San Francisco He abandoned his son by the poor, betrayed creature, and allowed the boy to scrub out the floor of the station house in San Francisco for a living, no longer than three years ago He abandoned all claim to decency when he surrounded himself with a gang of thieving contractors in St Louis He abandoned the brave Lyon, and allowed him and his followers to be slain. He abandoned all claim to the respect of Union men, when he placed himself at the head of a faction to destroy the power of the Union party He is an abandoned character, if ever there was one, and the only good act of his life was when he abandoned the army by resigning the sword he had never drawn in fight, and the epaulettes he had tarnished It is the people's turn next and about the first of November they will abandon him So says the Sacramento Star

Contempt of Death.—When I take a full view and circle of myself, without this reasonable moderator and equal piece of justice, Death, I do conceive myself the miserablest person extant, for could the devil work my belief to imagine I could never die, I would not outlive that very thought I have so abject a conceit of this common way of existence—this retaining to the sum and elements—I cannot think this to be a man, or to live according to the dignity of humanity In expectation of a better, I can with patience embrace this life, yet in my meditations do often defy death I honor any man that contemns it, nor can I highly love any that is afraid of it. This makes me naturally love a soldier, and honor those tattered and contemptible regiments that will die at the command of a sergeant.—Sir Thomas Browne

The publisher of the Merced Banner advertises his office for sale. To an enterprising printer of industrious and temperate habits, Democratic principles, and a little practical common sense, this offers a fair opportunity for establishing a business which will afford a reasonable compensation for the labor expended.—Dem. Press

Here 8 qualifications asked which are not found in one person An enterprising Democrat" with temperate habits and industrious, and possessed of 'common sense," is not easily scared up these days If a Democrat is found of these qualifications, 'common sense" will teach him better than to print a secesh paper.—Appeal

A Hint to Editors.—The most certain and effectual method of making a good and popular paper, is to take especial pains to insert nothing that can by any possibility offend any one. Avoid all extreme opinions Don't takes sides on any question respecting which people differ Never commit yourself to anything Take especial care to speak well of no one who has any enemies, and to speak ill of no one who has any friends Persevere in this course, and you will be sure to make a "respectable and influential" journal

Jeff Davis on the Cap of Liberty.—Some original correspondence between Crawford the sculptor and Jeff Davis then Secretary of War and Capt Meigs, then in charge of the Capitol extension on the subject of the statue of Liberty which now crowns the dome of the Capitol has been brought to light Jeff Davis objected to the Liberty cap which occupied the place of the present helmet in the original design on the ground that it was first used by a freedman who had liberated himself from slavery and he feared that it might at some future time come to have the same signification

The London Court Journal in noticing the vulgar and snobbish letter about his interview with Mr and Mrs. Lincoln at the White House concludes him severely and asks what such a would-be man can write of an American who should describe in the same offensive way his presentation to Queen Victoria

The Condition of Mobile.—We can see for no good results until the moral condition of the people, and the conduct on the part of our women Instead of adorning their persons for select purposes and temperance our fleet ladies alike disgrace and unwomanly whose husbands and brothers are in arms they had better clothe themselves well during the night and assume an interest in both matters The social gathering our women is becoming Public the war news and daily reports Private the war news and daily letters Public and private nothing but war war war Heavens! is it true that we are to be overrun with scoundrels—setting at God and at principles of moral right? Heavens! is it true that we are to see down this growing evil unchallenged and fathers and brothers and husbands grow up in a pestilential atmosphere which but to breathe is death Is not the hand of the enemy enough to send destruction to our homes or must we have his accomplice to death? The enemy can only be repelled by banishing the foul spirits from society and putting no man in position who is not moral Are not the bright and shining examples of Lee Jackson Johnston Wheeler Maury and many others enough to teach aspirants for office that pure and patriotism and the Generals of that is not the essence of valor to fast women to gain the country's applause? Now need they think they are not known By their deeds we know them Our President is a pure and moral man, were it not well to set an example by discountenancing and refusing promotion to this set of moths? We have no laws to reach such a class but public opinion should be used without mercy.—Mobile Advertiser, 10th of April
